

Nasdaq OneReport

Nasdaq OneReport gives companies more control over their data management reporting process, empowering them to drive efficiency. The platform integrates sustainability information, simplifies the reporting process, and leverages your data for different uses and audiences. Nasdaq OneReport addresses the complex series of frameworks by offering an easy and efficient tool for managing data internally, and in turn, connects companies to the industry's leading ESG raters.

Engage and Educate

- Decide what ESG raters, frameworks, research organizations to address
- Determine what information to report and who to involve
- Monitor evolving ratings (metrics, terminology, commonalities, nuances, and methodologies)
- Support colleagues with contextual guidance and resources

Collect and Collaborate

- Pilot the information collection and response process
- Share the workload with tools to assign roles, delegate work, track data, and monitor status
- Access central repository for quantitative and qualitative information with supporting references, documentation, and communications
- Simplify the entire process

Respond and Report

- Connect to more ESG raters and frameworks than any other system
- Tackle information requests within one software platform
- Avoid survey fatigue and corporate responsibility ratings overload
- Deliver data to research agencies – easily and efficiently

Publish and Preserve

- Track information shared with ratings agencies and stakeholders for institutional memory
- Share information publicly: HTML and PDF-based reports and individual topics or "quantitative and qualitative" disclosures
- Create customized reports for:
 - Global Reporting Initiative (GRI)
 - UN Global Compact
 - Sustainable Development Goals
 - Your organization and others

Supported Frameworks and Ratings
